Criminal Cases
Review Commission

Application form for review of conviction or sentence, or both

Do you believe you have been wrongly convicted or sentenced for a crime in New Zealand?

Te Kāhui Tātari Ture is responsible for reviewing cases where a person believes they were wrongly convicted or sentenced.

We can review your case and if we consider there are grounds for it to be referred, we have the power to refer your case back to an appeal court.

An important factor we will consider is whether or not you have used all your rights of appeal.

We do not determine guilt or innocence. If your case is referred, you will be given a new hearing in an appeal court.

What you should know before you apply

- ▶ Our job is to review your case independently and make a referral if we consider there are grounds for it to be referred. We do not act as your lawyer, but we are independent from the police and the courts.
- ▶ To help us with our review, we will need to get a bit of information about you and your case.
- ▶ If you would like us to help you complete your application, please contact us on 0800 33 77 88 and we can work through the application with you.
- ▶ Alternatively, you may like to ask a family member, friend or someone you trust to help you complete the form.
- ▶ You are welcome to work with a lawyer, however there is no requirement to do so.
- ▶ There are no costs to make an application to us and if you would like to use a lawyer, you may be entitled to apply for legal aid.

Please try to complete as much of this form as you can, but don't worry if you can't answer everything.

If English is not your main language, please get in touch and we can organise for someone to help you to complete the form.
